

December 4, 2012

Sales Check

Flooding? What flooding? Buyers don't seem to be worried about the threat of future Sandy-like floods at downtown luxury buildings. At 250 West Street, two buyers have spent more than $7.5 million on apartments since the storm. At 93 Worth Street, prices have been upped before the official on-market date due to the number of interested buyers. Eight units have gone into contract at the W since Sandy, too. [WS]

